

Alaska 200 Club

30th Report

2011

The Alaska 200 Club emblem portrays a Steller's Jay, Cyanocitta stelleri stelleri [Gmelin, 1778 {Vancouver Island, British Columbia}], new to ornithology in July 1741 when discovered at Kayak Island (Southcoastal Alaska) by George Wilhelm Steller. This find convinced Steller that the expedition had indeed reached the New World, and in a manner, establishing the Steller's Jay as the first bird to the Alaska list. In the background is the vessel Saint Peter which carried Bering, Steller, and contingent to Alaska.

THIRTIETH REPORT OF THE ALASKA 200 CLUB

The Alaska 200 Club, formed in 1979, is a membership of people that have recorded 200 or more species of birds, wild, alive and unrestrained in Alaska (Charter members = Roster #'s 1 – 12). This report summarizes 200 Club data through the end of 2010 and includes all 2010 updates that were sent to us by January 10, 2011.

The Club roster stood at 259 members at the end of 2009. Eight new members joined the club in 2010: Steven Waltz (260), Ken Tarbox (261), David Govatski (262), Isaac Helmericks (263), Norm Budnitz (264), Connie Tarbox (265), Kathleen Prentki (266) and James Huntington (267). David Sonneborn remains at the top of the list; still the only birder to have reported seeing more than 400 species in Alaska. James Huntington's list indicates that he has seen 300 species in Alaska. He is the forty-first member of the club to have reached that level.

Table 1 summarizes the membership ranking at the end of 2010, based on species total, and includes the year of each member's most recent update. Sixty-five members provided updates for this report.

The Alaska 200 Club follows the CHECKLIST OF ALASKA BIRDS, including the "Unsubstantiated list" (but excluding species introduced or of questioned origin). This list is compiled by the Alaska Checklist Committee and is maintained by the University of Alaska. The 17th edition of the Checklist, published in January 2011, includes three new species added to the main list (Common Moorhen, Solitary Snipe, and Laughing Gull) and one to the Unsubstantiated List (Northern Gannet); see "2010 Changes to the Checklist of Alaska Birds" at the end of this report for details. With these additions the main list now stands at 492 species, plus 24 on the unsubstantiated list. The Checklist can be found by using the link to the UAF Museum website on the Alaska 200 Club website.

All communications regarding the Alaska 200 Club should be sent to Steve Zimmerman either by e-mail (stevezimmerman@gci.net) or to: P.O. Box 20058, Juneau, Alaska 99802. This list is only updated once per year. Please send updates for the next report so that they arrive by January 10, 2012.

2010 CHANGES TO THE CHECKLIST OF ALASKA BIRDS

ADDITIONS TO THE CHECKLIST

Common Moorhen Gallinula chloropus from a bird collected at Shemya Island. Status: Accidental.

Solitary Snipe Gallinago solitaria from a bird collected at Attu Island. Status: Accidental (moved from the unsubstantiated list).

Laughing Gull Leucophaeus atricilla from a bird photographed at Kodiak Island. Status: Casual (moved from the unsubstantiated list).

ADDITIONS TO THE UNSUBSTANTIATED LIST

Northern Gannet Morus bassanus seen by two people on separate research vessels within 24 hours of each other at sea off the coast of Barrow on August 16 and 17, 2010. No photographs were taken.

Note: At the end of 2010 the AKCL Committee had not completed voting on a proposal to add Blyth's Reed Warbler Acrocephalus dumetorum (a bird photographed at St. Lawrence Island in September 2010).

STATUS CHANGES:

Accidental to Casual: Brown Pelican, Gray Heron, Black-winged Stilt, Jack Snipe, Pin-tailed Snipe, Rufous-tailed Robin.

Casual to Rare: Franklin's Gull, Eurasian Collared-Dove, Purple Finch.

TAXONOMIC NAME CHANGES

Eastern-Whip-poor-will Caprimulgus vociferus from Whip-poor-will (species split).

Pacific Wren Troglodytes pacificus from Winter Wren (species split).

ADDITIONS TO THE CHECKLIST COMMITTEE

Jack J. Withrow joins Daniel D. Gibson, Steven C. Heinl, Aaron J. Lang and Theodore G. Tobish on the Alaska Checklist Committee.

This list of changes was compiled in part from a list created by Ed Clark and includes suggestions by Dan Gibson.
