

Alaska 200 Club

35th Report 2015

The Alaska 200 Club emblem portrays a Steller's Jay, Cyanocitta stelleri stelleri [Gmelin, 1778 {Vancouver Island, British Columbia}], new to ornithology in July 1741 when discovered at Kayak Island (Southcoastal Alaska) by George Wilhelm Steller. This find convinced Steller that the expedition had indeed reached the New World, and in a manner, establishing the Steller's Jay as the first bird to the Alaska list. In the background is the vessel Saint Peter which carried Bering, Steller, and contingent to Alaska.

THIRTY- FIFTH REPORT OF THE ALASKA 200 CLUB

The Alaska 200 Club, formed in 1979, is a membership of people that have recorded 200 or more species of birds, wild, alive and unrestrained in Alaska (Charter members = Roster numbers 1-12). This report summarizes 200 Club data through the end of 2015 and includes all 2015 updates that were sent to the Club Administrator by January 10, 2016.

The club roster stood at 298 members at the end of 2014. Eleven new members joined the club in 2015: Ian Bruce (299), Barbara Carlson (300), Laurie Cairns (301), John Cairns (302), Mary Bennett (303), Kitty LaBounty (304), Lucy Pizzuto-Phillips (305), Victoria Vosburg (306), Matt Goff (307), Lynn Barber (308) and Heather Bauscher (309). David Sonneborn remains at the top of the list; still the only birder to have reported seeing more than 400 species in Alaska. Bev Agler and Isaac Helmericks reported seeing 300 or more species in Alaska in 2015. Fifty-five members of the club have now reached that level. Four members passed away in 2015.

Table 1 summarizes the membership ranking at the end of 2015, based on species total, and includes the year of each member's most recent update. Eighty four members provided updates for this report.

The Alaska 200 club follows the CHECKLIST OF ALASKA BIRDS, including the "Unsubstantiated list" (but excluding species introduced or of questionable origin). This list is compiled by the Alaska Checklist Committee and is maintained by the University of Alaska. Changes that will be likely to the 22th edition of the Checklist in 2016 (and therefore were counted in member's totals for this report) include five new species added to the main list (Red-footed Booby, Blyth's Reed Warbler, Yellow-throated Warbler, Hooded Oriole and Pallas's Rosefinch). Blyth's Reed Warbler was moved to the main list from the "Unsubstantiated List". With these changes the Checklist will stand at 510 species, plus 24 on the unsubstantiated list. The checklist can be found at the University of Alaska Museum of the North's Ornithology department web page.

All communications regarding the Alaska 200 Club should be sent to Ed Clark either by e-mail (akbirder@eagle.ptialaska.net) or to 1929 Kittiwake Drive, Fairbanks, Alaska 99709. This list is only updated once per year. Please send updates for the next report so that they arrive no later than January 10, 2017. If you were not contacted late in 2015 or early January 2016 I do not have current contact information for you. Get in touch with me!
